

Poetry Pie
by Stephanie Nygaard

Words dangle from branches like ripe apples, waiting to be plucked.
Gather enough in your basket, and take them home.
At your kitchen table, mix the word-apples with spices. Bake
into a poetry pie
and serve to others so
they may taste
and see that
words are good.